BEST AUTHORITY 2.1 ACHIEVES OFFICIAL MICROSOFT CERTIFICATION FOR WINDOWS PLATFORM AND OFFICE 2007

May 6, 2008 – Leesburg, VA – Levit & James, Inc. (www.levitjames.com) announced today that their Best Authority 2.1 software has passed the Microsoft Platform Test for ISV (Independent Software Vendor) Solutions and met all necessary certification criteria for compatibility with Microsoft Windows Platform and Office 2007.

Levit & James President Fletcher James explained, “We are pleased that Best Authority has qualified for Microsoft Office 2007 and Windows certification. Many law firms have scheduled upgrades to these technologies in the near future, so this certification was a top priority for Best Authority customers.”

The certification process was conducted independently by VeriTest. It assures Best Authority users that the software is consistently stable, will avoid application and operating system conflicts, and will work seamlessly with Office 2007 and Windows. Levit & James is a Microsoft Certified Partner with an ISV/Software Solutions Competency in the Office System Add-in category.

Best Authority assists litigation attorneys and staff in quickly and accurately building a Table of Authorities (TOA) – a list of citations in a legal brief. It is easy to use, with E-learning Modules available on-line to download. For a 5-minute Flash video explanation of what Best Authority does, visit the following link: <http://www.levitjames.com/bestauthority/bestauthority.html>.

Approximately 25% of the 250 largest American law firms have purchased Best Authority since the product was introduced in 2006. Major productivity gains and cost savings have been realized by firms using Best Authority. James reported, “One of our law firm customers has projected that Best Authority will save them approximately $2.5 million over the next five years.”
